KESWICK CHRISTIAN SCHOOL has been on the present 30-acre site since 1953 when it opened its doors as Grace Livingston Hill Memorial School with 75 students. Today KCS enrolls over 600 students and is the oldest independent Christian preschool through grade 12 program in Pinellas County.

Keswick boasts of an academic program that produces students who attend a variety of outstanding Christian and secular private and state universities and colleges. Over 95% of its graduates continue their education at the college or university level. Keswick is also known for its outstanding achievements in instrumental and vocal music, and the school's state-ranked athletic teams, particularly those in varsity football, girls' basketball, cross country, and track.

Keswick is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the Association of Christian Schools, International. It maintains this accreditation on the basis of the ongoing success of its programs and students, and its experientially and academically qualified staff of administrators and teachers.
